KulinWorld

KulinWorld d.o.o. develops spaces from concept and design through construction, integrating architecture and real estate into a single process that creates functional, sustainable and context-responsive long-term value. Through our broader business eco-system, we also work closely with a sister company specialising in architecture and design, exploring contemporary, adaptable and sustainable approaches to building by combining architectural heritage, urban design, cultural context and modern construction methods. A key focus is the development of innovative modular architectural systems for commercial, hospitality, public-space and urban applications. We are seeking international partners in modular construction, manufacturing, real estate development and innovative building technologies. We are particularly interested in collaborations that combine design expertise with advanced fabrication, sustainable materials, prefabrication and off-site construction capabilities, supporting the further development, certification and international scaling of our modular solutions.
